Figures

Figure 1.1. The movement from referral question to responsible decision. Each step constrains the next; the final decision inherits the uncertainties recorded at every earlier step. . . . 3
Figure 2.1. The structure of a diagnostic interview. Each element supplies evidence for a different claim, and the mental status examination is interpreted against, not instead of, the history. . . . 27
Figure 3.1. The psychometric chain. Each link is a separate empirical claim, and no link can be inferred from the strength of the others. . . . 51
Figure 3.2. Positive and negative predictive values for an instrument with sensitivity .90 and specificity .90, plotted against prevalence. The values are computed from Bayes' theorem; the instrument is held constant while the setting varies. . . . 63
Figure 4.1. The test-use cycle. Selection, administration and scoring each protect or threaten the validity of the interpretation that follows. . . . 73
Figure 5.1. Personality assessment integrates model, method and context. No single instrument supplies the construct; the assessor must construct it. . . . 92
Figure 6.1. Cognitive assessment as a sequence of claims, each requiring its own evidence. Capacity, context and consequence are separate questions. . . . 112
Figure 7.1. Functional assessment links capacity, demand and support. The decision concerns the fit between them, not the capacity alone. . . . 131
Figure 8.1. Assessment across the internalising spectrum. Overlapping presentations require explicit discrimination rather than reliance on the most salient symptom. . . . 150
